Dedication

IN DEDICATION TO
MRS. CHARLOTIE HARNDEN

Whose kind patience and understanding have lightened the burden of our toil during these years; and whose wisdom and judgment have inspired us constantly to seek and courageously to attain--our goal of graduation.

We the Senior Class of 1953, leave you with the fond hope, that you may ever continue to be, to those who are to follow, the invaluable guide that you have been to us.

Superintendent's Message

Everyone realizes today the vital need of teaching and practicing the American democratic way of life.

Norton High School has recently won an outstanding national award for their efforts in this field. I urge you, as you become high school graduates, to remember and practice the activities which you have experienced in high school. I hope some of you will be interested in preparing for the teaching profession. President Eisenhower gave the following message to the students at Columbia University just before leaving for his inauguration: "No man flying a warplane or with a defensive gun in his hand can possibly be more important than the teacher." The teacher is in the front line of defense of our way of life. Join the ranks of teachers or support the teachers in this important undertaking.

LAURENCE G. NOURSE, Superintendent

Principal's Message

The Class of 1953 is completing its high school training and will soon enter a new world of endeavor. This final project, your yearbook, will give you much joy in future years.

Many sacrifices of the past have made possible the present. The times ahead will demand an even greater conviction of an idealism, the best and highest perfection. The outcome will be beneficial if you are on the alert and willing to work.

The members of the Class of 1953 have made contributions to their high school whether it be scholastic, literary, or sports. With proper individual exertion you will overcome any fear of the future.

The school officials, the faculty, and the members of the school wish the Class of 1953 success.

"LA DOUZAINE"

An Allegory

Four years ago our ship "Douzaine"
Set sail upon a quiet sea,
And little did she realize then
How far away her port would be.

Of more than forty was her crew,
Nor was her captain e'er surpassed;
Our duties on that voyage grew;
Before we spied our berth at last.

Two years had passed when first we knew
The waves were white with wreaths of wrath;
From out those depths a tempest grew,
And drowned our comrades in its path!

From those who started there remained
But half, to guide the stricken sail;
The battered hulk ploughed through to fame,
And then arose a mournful wail--

"What life awaits us there ashore?
Were we then saved from such a plight,
To go from darkness into more,
Or do we graduate to light?"

The harbor's reached, the sailors part,
And we to all our tale will tell
Of friendships true, of sorrows dark;
For now we say our last farewell.

DEAR DAIRY

April 20, 1953

At last, the day for which we have waited four years has come. Right now, believe it or not, we are sitting in the lobby of the Hotel Annapolis in Washington after a very exciting and tiring day. We left Providence this morning at 8:45, and arrived in Baltimore about 5:00 p. m. We had dinner at the Hotel Stafford, and then came by bus to Washington. What a wonderful driver, with the cutest southern accent! Well, it's 12:00 a. m. now, time to hit the sack. More tomorrow.

April 21, 1953

After the first, but NOT the last, wait for the Lancaster chaperons, we went on our first tour this morning to the Bureau of Printing and Engraving, which was very interesting--money, money, money! Then a trip to the beautiful Arlington Memorial Cemetery, where we just missed the changing of the guard at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. After that, we were off to Mount Vernon, which was really marvellous. All the gardens were in bloom, and the buildings looked as stately and as charming as we imagined Mount Vernon to be. Then "Chicken in the Rough" at the Pendaw Restaurant in Alexandria, and we were off again to the Capitol, where we heard part of the Senate debate on the Tideland Oil question. We just about made it to the Franciscan Monastery--which is something that I wouldn't miss for the world. The church and catacombs were wonderful--and made me, at least, feel like new. Dinner was at the hotel, and we were off once more, this time to visit the Lincoln Memorial and the Congressional Library. The view of Washington lighted up was very thrilling.

April 22, 1953

We visited the Washington Monument this morning, and several courageous people climbed the 898 steps to the top. The elevator was bad enough for me! Next in line was the White House, where we passed through the famous East Room. Then, we visited the Smithsonian Institute, where each person had a chance to visit whatever section of the museum he or she was most interested in. In the afternoon we visited Annapolis. We saw the chapel, museum, and the tomb of John Paul Jones. We then watched the magnificent dress parade, which consisted of twenty-seven hundred cadets and two bands. Wow! Dinner was at the Casino Royal, and then each group went their merry way--swimming, dancing, or Glen Echo Amusement Park. It's late now, and so more tomorrow, when we arrive in New York.

April 23, 1953

Arrived in New York about two o'clock this afternoon, and went on a tour of the NBC studios and the RCA roof. We separated for supper, some went to the Automat and others to the Virginian. This evening some of us saw "Call Me Madam" (don't miss it!) at the Roxy, some went walking, and others were slightly sick. Bed now, so more--etc.

April 24, 1953

Things went a little haywire this morning, three of us went around the corner to buy some shoes and missed the bus for the tour of Chinatown. Scared isn't the word for how we felt! However, we were forgiven, and met the group again at noontime. They told us that the tour had consisted of the Bowery, St. Patrick's Cathedral, Brooklyn Bridge, the Little Church Around the Corner, and many other interesting sights in New York City. This afternoon, shopping, the circus, Eddie Fisher, and the ball game took up the time of different people. Tonight we saw "Shane" and the Rockettes at Radio City Music Hall, and then went out afterwards--more movies, eating and Palisade Park. Tomorrow we are all going to sleep until ten--I hope.

April 25, 1953

We all had late breakfast and then went shopping for souvenirs. (Tarragano & Son is a wonderful shop!) Some ate at the Automat and some at the famous Grill Room of the Hotel Taft, where Vincent Lopez and his orchestra played. More shopping, rest, light supper, and we caught the train for home at 6:00 p.m. We were tired out, but few could sleep, and so we stayed awake until we arrived in Providence about 9:45 p.m. where parents and friends were waiting to take us home. It's really wonderful to be home, and I, for one, am ready for bed, so I'll close by saying thanks to our wonderful chaperons, Miss Jennie Repucci and Mr. James Blount, and to everyone else who aided us in making this trip a pleasant and happy one.

Class Prophecy

The other night I had a wonderful dream. I was in the midst of a reunion of the dear Class of 1953. I was wearing the smart-looking uniform of the Women's Air Force. It was great to be back with the gang again, but my, how they had changed!

Nita had two darling little boys and a very proud husband. She was as happy as could be. Doris was a medical secretary as she had always wanted to be, but with the added pleasure of being married to the doctor. Of course, Diana had always been partial to blond sailors. Jack happened to be the lucky one.

Dorie was traveling in style as an airline hostess for a big airline, and had recently returned from Paris. Mabel was married to the man she always wanted, and was extremely happy with him and their four children.

Everyone had always known that David would be a very successful man, and right then he told us just how prosperous he was. He was struggling by on unemployment compensation while writing a great book on the evolution of man. Yes, he was a very promising man; a great asset to the world.

Norton had a beautiful new High School, and Cynthia was assisting Mr. Laronda in teaching the Math courses. Linda had traveled down from Bangor, Maine, where she was a Girl Scout Leader. She was, by the way, happily married to the Boy Scout Leader there.

Jeanne Scott had become a world traveler, and most certainly would have been married if she could have chosen between all her admirers. Jean Zwolensky was married to a big executive from Metals & Controls. She had been his private secretary for years, and he found her so efficient that he married her.

We were all having a wonderful time when I woke up. I was so pleased that I was the one who was so lucky to be able to look into the future and my classmates' lives.

Class History

When the honor of writing the Class History was bestowed on me, it was with the keenest joy that I turned back the hands of time and recalled all the outstanding highlights of our four memorable years at Norton High School.

It was in September of 1949, that twenty-eight of us arrived at Norton High School. Twenty-eight boys and girls eager to learn, all seeking some goal and increased wisdom. With the assistance of our faculty advisor, Mrs. Harnden, we set about the task of electing our Freshman Class Officers. These were:

President- KIT KNAPTON
Vice President- - - - - - - - - - - - - - - - -AUGUSTINE GOUVEIA
Secretary- JEAN ZWOLENSKY
Treasurer- -FRED BEAMAN
Student Council Representatives- - - - - - - - - - - -KIT KNAPTON
JEAN ZWOLENSKY

For our very first assembly we presented a play entitled "Gold From Them Thar' Mountains" which was very well received. Early in the spring of 1950, we held our first high school social event, called the "Freshman Frolic" of which we were immeasurably proud. Thus our Freshman year in high school ended, and we looked forward not only to our Sophomore year, but also to a grand summer vacation.

After a very happy and much too short holiday we began our Sophomore year. We were pleased to have reached that important stage in our high school career. We were now the exalted Sophomores. On our return to school that fall we again elected class officers. This time we chose:

President- LINDA RAMSEYER
Vice President- - - - - - - - - - - - - - - - - AUGUSTINE GOUVEIA
Secretary- -JEAN ZWOLENSKY
Treasurer- MABEL JENKS
Student Council Representatives- - - - - - - - - - LINDA RAMSEYER
JEAN ZWOLENSKY

Mrs. Charlotie Harnden continued in the role of faculty advisor, and a very helpful one she was too.

During our Sophomore year, nine class-mates left us either to enter the holy bands of matrimony or to enter the different services, which cut our class to a mere eighteen.

This was the year we really buckled down to work for we all realized how much school meant to us, and then too, we wanted to raise enough money for our Washington and New York trip. That year we held a dance, and a card party, both of which proved to be a success. During our Sophomore year some of us joined the different clubs.

Sponsored by MARTY'S COFFEE SHOP

Class Christmas parties began our Sophomore year, as we decided not to give a party for the entire school. At the close of this year we held a party for Mrs. Harnden at Mabel Jenks' home. As Mrs. Harnden was leaving for a year, we presented her with a token of our affection and hoped that she would return to us soon.

Before we realized it, our Sophomore year was ended and it was again September and our Junior year. This year our class officers were:

President- LINDA RAMSEYER
Vice President- MABEL JENKS
Secretary- JEAN ZWOLENSKY
Treasurer- CYNTHIA THIBAULT
Student Council Representatives- - - - - - - - - - - - MABEL JENKS
LINDA RAMSEYER
DAVID REYNOLDS

As Juniors we held a "Record Hop" and a hay ride. However, the latter event was far from successful in many ways.

Our big undertaking this year was the Senior Reception. This took place on June 6th, the first reception to be held in the new gymnasium. Under the leadership of Mrs. Grace Elkins, the class worked hard and the reception was a beautiful and memorable event. During our years in high school Cynthia Thibault and Linda Ramseyer were our contributions to both basketball and softball. They were shining lights in both sports.

With the completion of our Junior year we were at long last Seniors, and our final year in Norton High began. Our now little class of twelve elected as its leaders:

President- MABEL JENKS
Vice President- - - - - - - - - - - - - - - - - - CYNTHIA THIBAULT
Secretary- JEAN ZWOLENSKY
Treasurers- - - - - - - - - - - - - - - - NITA SHAW, DORIS LAJOIE
Student Council Representatives:
President- DAVID REYNOLDS
Secretary- DORIS LAJOIE
JEAN ZWOLENSKY
MABEL JENKS
LINDA RAMSEYER
CYNTHIA THIBAULT

Much to our delight Mrs. Harnden returned and was once again our faculty advisor. Our first big event this year was our Class Play, "Three Blind Dates," which we presented on November 21. The cast included: David Reynolds, who had the lead, Jean Zwolensky the mother; Bartlett Paulding, the father; Alan Crowe, a college friend of David's (the last two boys were borrowed from the Junior Class; Cynthia Thibault, the daughter, and Mabel Jenks, Dorie Beausoleil, Linda Ramseyer, Diana Fortin, and Doris Lajoie were Cynthia's girl friends and everyone of them wished to make a hit with brother David. The play was put on under the very capable direction of Mrs. Jean Briggs.

As members of the P.O.D. class we took many field trips throughout the year to observe courts, city and local governments in action. On election day in November we sold tags which helped tremendously to swell the funds for our Washington and New York trip.

It was in February that we held a "Royalty Dance" at which Annette Houle and Paul Champagne were crowned king and queen, and Carol Jackson and Donald Roy were crowned prince and princess.

During our April vacation we finally took the all important trip for which we had worked so hard. And it more than came up to our expectations. Miss Jennie Repucci and Mr. James Blount made the best of chaperones.

This year for a second time Norton High School won the Freedom's Foundation National Award. Mrs. Jean Findlater and Cynthia Thibault represented us at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania in May.

Linda Ramseyer was elected as our pilgrim to the "Daughters of the American Revolution."

Despite the small size of our class we not only managed to have a class trip but also a yearbook. In fact, we were the first class to have a printed yearbook with a hard cover and we were also the first class in fifteen years to raise all the money to defray the entire cost of the class trip.

Now our Senior Year has ended and graduation is near. Our four years at Norton High School have far exceeded our anticipation and it is with considerable regret that we close the book on our high school years.

We hope that you have enjoyed reviewing the highlights of these outstanding years with us and that you will have as happy a four years in high school as we did.
